

DESOLATION AND SORROW REIGN IN FLAME SWEEP LOCALITIES IN NORTH

Forest Fires Rushing to Destroy More Villages---Martial Law Declared In the Fire Zone

WARROAD, Minn., Oct. 11.—Desolation and sorrow reign here today and thousands of square miles are a smoking debris that a week ago was a prosperous timber area dotted with thriving towns.

Three hundred bodies must be cared for at Rainy River alone according to a private message. Reports to railroad officials today indicate that the loss of life and property has not been exaggerated.

Fanned by a gale, a wall of flame now threatens Rainier. Couriers have been sent out to appeal for aid. Ragley and Clearbrook are both threatened and women and children are being sent to places of safety. Backfiring is the only hope of a dozen settlements lying away from the rivers.

Warroad is out of danger, although the country for miles is in smoking ruins and towns are overcrowded with refugees. Winnipeg has wired that she is sending aid to care for the injured. Doctors and nurses are needed.

The state militia has reached Beaudette, according to reports and are searching for bodies. The soldiers have been ordered to shoot looters on sight. The entire fire zone is being placed under martial law.

ARE CHECKING FIRES AT RAINY RIVER

RAINY RIVER, Ont., Oct. 11.—The forest fires here and at International Falls are practically under control this afternoon. Unless many of the missing are dead the fatalities in this section will not exceed 150. Thirty of the bodies are here, and thirty have been taken to Duluth. The wind is dying, making it easier for the fighters to work. Supplies are arriving from St. Paul, Winnipeg and other cities.

NO DEFINITE CLUE IS YET ANNOUNCED

Flammer Will Not Arrest Anyone in Times Case Until He Is Sure of His Men

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11.—Captain or Detectives Flammer today denied the persistent report that there will be important arrests in the Times dynamiting case before night.

"I speak for the police when I say that if anyone is under surveillance he will not be arrested until we are positive he is the man we want, and our case against him is complete. I cannot say what Burns and Rogers contemplate, but although we may be shadowing men we believe are connected with the case, we will not act until sure of our grounds."

Rogers plans to start for San Francisco Monday. He and Burns appear to be playing tag. The fact that each man's move is followed by the other is taken here to indicate that both are working on the same clue, and are proceeding on the same lines.

Declare Two Are Suspected

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11.—One man is under police surveillance in Los Angeles and another is guarded by detectives in a sanitarium of Northern California, as the result of yesterday's investigation into the Times disaster. The other—the one in the sanitarium—is now unconscious, wavering between life and death, suffering from injuries sustained when he was precipitated from a north-bound train. Unless the hand of death interferes the injured man will be placed under restraint within a few days.

Both men, according to the investigators, have information which will point to the parties guilty of placing the explosives at Mr. Zeehandelaar's home. Only one of the two men now under guard was directly connected with the dynamiting, the police say, but both know of the plot. When the men are taken captive it is probable that they will be jointly charged with conspiracy.

BOXES FOR BENEFIT ARE SOLD AT GOOD PRICES

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11.—Mayor Alexander at noon today auctioned three boxes in the Auditorium where the Times employees' benefit is to be held. The first box was bought by R. Meyer for $375, and the other two brought $225 and $275. This will be added to the relief funds.

ARIZONA SAT ON LOBBIES

Passed Resolution to Exclude All But Delegates From the Floor of Convention

PHOENIX, Oct. 11.—The Arizona constitutional convention prepared for actual business today by adopting resolutions providing for twenty-four standing committees. These will be named by President Hunt Thursday.

A resolution was passed providing that none but delegates have the privilege of the convention chamber. This followed reported threats of the liquor, railroad and insurance interests to form lobbies. After much discussion the plan was suggested of incorporating a similar provision regarding the state legislature, in the constitution. The plan apparently met with the approval of the delegates.

MAN DIES OF CHOLERA IN SLUMS OF LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Although strenuous efforts were made to suppress the facts, it was learned today that a man died in the slums of London, where contagion is possible, from virulent Asiatic Cholera. Physicians assert that there are no other cases in the city.

OFFICERS RUN DOWN ALL CLUES BUT HAVE FOUND NO TRACE OF FUGITIVES

No Word of Sainz and Macias Since They Disappeared in Walnut Grove Valenzuela Goes Armed

Rosario Sainz and Alejo Macias, who broke jail Sunday noon, have not been caught, and every indication points to the conclusion that they will not be caught. Twenty minutes after they left Sheriff Lacy locked in the county jail, the two desperadoes disappeared in a walnut orchard east of C street and north of Washington avenue. Since that time there has been no word of them, no trace, no track—not the slightest thing to tie to. The officers have worked day and night, have watched and waited, have searched, have traveled hundreds of miles, have followed down every vague rumor and every available bit of information, and they are completely baffled.

Sheriff Lacy has had at his service any number of willing men, ready to go anywhere and do anything, and among them—Tiofilo Cervantes and others—are men who know the habits of Sainz and Macias like a book. They know both men to be dangerous, desperate and resourceful. The sheriff has spared no expense. He has not let up for a minute, and will not let up. He still has hopes of capturing the fugitives.

Sainz and Macias may be within a mile of the city. They may be 100 miles away.

Mountaineers have been posted. Descriptions and photographs of the two escaped prisoners have been sent far and wide.

Officers have hoped in vain that the two men would be driven to beg for food, take a horse or do something that would indicate their whereabouts. Doubtless they were driven to no such extremity. It is now more than forty-eight hours since they escaped, and they have either lived on fruit and nuts stolen in orchards or have been supplied with food by friends, which they do not lack.

Run Down Reports

A number of reports that looked as though they might develop into something worth while have been followed down. The report that the two men were seen going over the El Modena grade Sunday night was shown to have been groundless. That is, the men were not Sainz and Macias. Yesterday a report came in that two Mexicans were seen in A. D. Bishop's orchard on the Santiago creek. Two automobiles carried armed men to the place. The Mexicans were not Sainz and Macias.

This morning it was learned that yesterday a man was seen to hide something beneath some trees at the edge of the Laguna hills near the old Rutherford lease. Men who saw this investigated and found the articles to be crackers, cheese, coffee and clothing. They saw the man who hid the articles turn back toward Santa Ana.

Deputies Lacy and Cervantes and Constable Jackson in S. Wheaton's automobile went to the spot this morning, and found an old man, white, there. He said he was an old printer, had lived at El Modena and was on his way to Laguna Beach afoot. Yesterday he walked that far when he decided to go back after some letters he had forgotten. He hid the food and clothing under some brush and returned. He spent the night there, and walked back this morning, having arrived a few minutes before the officers.

Enemies Are Uneasy

There are four or five Mexicans of Anaheim who are feeling just a bit uncomfortable. Uneasy will lie their heads until Sainz is known to be safe in Mexico, safe in jail or safe dead. In order of their preference the safety matter is: First, dead; second, jail; third, Mexico.

These men who are uneasy are those who testified against Sainz at the preliminary last June, when Sainz's preliminary on the charge of murdering Jose Machado on the Hellman mesa on Sept. 22, 1909, was held. The three principal witnesses were Santos Carrisosa, Jose Feliz and Salvador Valenzuela. They testified that Sainz was sober when he fired the shots from the dark at Carrisosa's tent, that he had threatened to kill someone.

When Valenzuela on the witness stand replied "It's a lie" to Sainz's statement that Valenzuela, Carrisosa, Feliz, Miranda and Catarina sold liquor to the sheep-shearers, Sainz showed a burst of the terrible temper that is one of his characteristics.

"It's a lie," said Valenzuela. Instantly, Sainz gripped his hands, the cords of his neck stood out, his teeth set and his blue eyes blazed. Had not officers been present, he would have throttled Valenzuela on the spot.

Valenzuela and Sainz have passed the word that the will shoot to kill each other. When Valenzuela heard that Sainz was out he armed himself with a rifle, and he will stay armed until he hears that Sainz is beyond reach.

What is more, Valenzuela went out Sunday night to hunt for Sainz. Yesterday Carrisosa and Valenzuela joined in the search.

Should Sainz get to Mexico, his Anaheim enemies have no assurance that he will not sneak back upon them. Twice in the time that Sainz was free following the killing of Machado, Sainz came back to this country, though he knew he was hunted. He came back guiding bands of contraband Chinese, and stopped a night at the house of his mother in Anaheim.

That Sainz is feared by many of the Spanish and Mexican people is not doubted. On the other hand, his enemies may prove of great service in keeping track of his whereabouts. At the present time, however, none of them has a thing to offer. They are as much baffled as are the officers.

Guesses Plentiful

Any kind of a guess as to the whereabouts of Sainz and Macias and as to their lucky get-away are good guesses.

A guess that they are close-in, hid-

TEN VICTIMS TAKEN FROM DEPTHS OF MINE

Deadly Gases Drive Rescuers Back Before More Bodies Could be Reached

BODIES SO MANGLED AS TO BE UNRECOGNIZABLE

Italian Consul Reaches Scene to Make Investigation Into the Disaster

STARKVILLE, Colo., Oct. 11.—The bodies of ten miners were found in the Starkville mine today, after the rescuers had worked incessantly since Saturday night. The men were killed by the force of the explosion and their bodies buried. They were fearfully mangled by the falling rocks.

By means of brass checks and clothing the bodies of Jan Klemik and Vit Nezio, Poles, have been identified. The rescuers were unable to penetrate closer to the place where the majority of the men are entombed. It may be night before they reach them.

The bodies so far recovered are so badly mangled by the explosion as to be unrecognizable except by the remaining shreds of clothing. Relatives are permitted to try to identify, then are compelled to leave the building while the body is prepared for burial. The Italian consul arrived this morning and began an investigation.

As the work of rescue proceeds, danger to the rescuers is increasing. Pockets of poisonous gases are continually found. Several rescuers have been overcome, and were carried from the mine.

Shortly after the recovery of the ten bodies, President J. F. Welborn of the Colorado Iron & Fuel Company arrived to personally investigate the catastrophe. No details will be given out until the officials place a formal report in the hands of the authorities.

Relatives and friends of the entombed men maintained a vigil at the mine all night. Many have apparently not slept since the disaster Saturday. As each body is raised to the surface it is surrounded by hysterical women, seeking to identify it. The authorities have had difficulty in preventing several women from rushing into the shaft.

Deputies guarding the mine have been ordered to keep all but rescuers from the shaft, newspaper men included. The coroner has completed plans for an inquest. The jury was summoned yesterday, and spent the night near the mine, playing cards and awaiting the arrival of the corpses.

The mine owners are caring for the widows of the survivors. A canvas today shows that in the families of fifty-five men entombed are sixty-seven children, and many of the wives are soon to become mothers.

GOVERNMENT ON HUNT OF OPIUM SMUGGLERS

LONG BEACH, Oct. 11.—Word has been received here by masters of pleasure and fishing craft plying between here and the string of islands south of this city that there are three small vessels belonging to the United States government lying near the shores of San Clemente Island, the crews of which, disguised as fishermen, are carefully guarding the landing place on the island, hoping to catch some of the smugglers of Chinese and opium that ply their trade between the Mexican coast and that of this country.

LOUISVILLE'S GROWTH

ALFONSO SHAKES ON SPAIN'S THRONE

Masses Army to Suppress First Spark of Rebellion—Thursday May See Civil War

LONDON, Oct. 11.—King Alfonso of Spain is trembling on his throne, and, alarmed at Portugal's overthrow of the monarchy, is convinced that unless the most rigid military precautions are taken within the next few weeks, even days, his throne will be toppled down upon his head and he will be forced to see Spain declared a republic.

With that fear tugging at his heart, he has assumed command of the army and strengthened every military garrison in Madrid with troops of whose loyalty he has not the slightest suspicion.

In fact, the entire Spanish army is being massed to crush the first spark of revolution. The anniversary of Professor Ferrer's execution, Thursday, will see either civil war or repression.

SEARCHLIGHT MAN WAS FOUND DEAD IN CABIN

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 11.—With his skull crushed in two places and a heavy, knotted club on the floor next to the body, showing the manner in which he was killed, J. M. Woodworth, a prominent business man of Searchlight, and for several years sheriff of Elko and Lincoln counties, Nevada, was found dead in his cabin on the desert west of Searchlight, where he had gone a week ago to attend to timber business.

A party of friends who had become anxious over Woodworth's continued absence, found the body. There were evidences that a hard struggle had taken place, the stove being overturned and the furniture scattered about the cabin.

UNLUCKY TAFT AUTO STRIKES SMALL CHILD

Mrs. Taft ordered the machine stopped. She directed the driver to carry the child to a hospital where she later visited her. The child sustained severe cuts and bruises.

FRANCE IS FACING BAD LABOR CRISIS

Thousands Threaten to Strike In Sympathy With Railway Workers in North

PARIS, Oct. 11.—One hundred thousand employees of Paris and the licensed state railroads are considering a walkout in sympathy with the strikers of the northern French railroads and the labor situation in France is fraught with serious menace. Forty-five thousand are already idle and the police and soldiers are guarding all stations and the streets of the larger cities.

Rioting on northern lines began today although no attempts were made to operate trains. Workmen gathered at the stations and resented the efforts of the troops to disperse them. Bricks were hurled and windows were smashed. Rabid partisans among the laborites are harranging groups on the streets. Only mounted squads of police are preserving order.

The government will use aeroplanes to carry important mails unless northern trains resume their schedules soon. It is feared the strikers will interfere if an attempt to use automobiles is made. The newspapers are demanding an extraordinary session of the Chamber of Deputies to consider the strike situation.

COMPANY L TAKES BRUNT

Major Vestal Had Charge of Difficult Problem Driving Out Troops

ATASCADERA, Oct. 9.—Friday's problem presented to Major L. L. Vestal of Santa Ana, in command of the Second Battalion, Seventh Regiment, was a very hard piece of work. With his command he was ordered to drive the red troops back from the position they held near the Henry ranch house, and extending along a creek. After receiving his orders, Major Vestal sent out office patrols, one of which was under the command of Lieut. Worden, to ascertain the strength and location of the enemy.

After getting the necessary information from these patrols he advanced on the enemy, driving them from a position on a knoll in front of the creek, where the main forces of the enemy were in position. He then ordered his entire battalion to take the position they had just fought so hard for, and from there was able to give the retreating troops a most effective fire.

By this movement he had disorganized them, and so followed up his advantage by making it a running fire. In this he still had the advantage, gained by the tactical way in which his fire was distributed, and was able to drive them about a mile over beyond the creek, and as the problem was completed, the Reds were a very disorganized force.

In this engagement Company L bore the brunt of the fighting and was very heartily commended by the regular army umpire who was watching the working out of this problem.

It is not saying a thing too much when it is said that they conducted themselves like veterans, inasmuch as the day was very hot and miles of the fighting was done on the double time, only stopping to fire as the line came in range of the retreating foe. Not a man of the company but what was able to come to camp alone, while a great number of other commands were seen lying along the road.

Everybody is resting in camp today (Sunday). Yesterday morning we had skirmish drill and in the afternoon all national guardsmen rested and the Company L boys' baseball nine crossed bats with the G Company of the Fifth Regiment, the latter winning by a score of 6 to 4. The company boys had a patched lineup and put up a good game of ball in spite of the crippled shape of their lineup.

David, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Drake, while at play yesterday evening, fell from the porch to the ground, causing a fracture of the collar bone. This morning the child was taken to the office of Drs. Royer and Chapline and the bone set. He is about two and a half years old.

Mrs. John Doyle of Prince Edward Island, Canada, who is visiting her son Thos. Doyle, proprietor of the Yoch Hotel at Laguna Beach, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Riley yesterday. Mrs. Doyle is an old friend of the Riley family, having been a neighbor in Prince Edward Island twenty-seven years ago. Needless to say, the old friends had a great visit. Mrs. Doyle will return to Canada on Wednesday.

ELEPHANTS AS MUSICIANS

Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Pawnee Bill's Far East Will Present a Herd of Elephants With a Musical Education

The unwieldy elephant has taken a course in the animal trainers' college of music, and instead of enacting the ordinary "stunts" of standing on front or hind legs, trumpeting at command, lying down and rolling over, and taking part in the heavy work of moving circus wagons, he now takes his place among the "artists" of the animal kingdom. The science of training elephants has reached perfection with Rossi's Musical Elephants, which form a part of the Wild West and Far East exhibition which Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill will soon bring to town. These mammoth pump organs with their feet, blow trumpets and ring bells all in time and tune and in musical harmony. Their marches are made musical by the ringing of many-toned bells, and they play chords upon the organs and blow harmony out of their trunks through trumpets. Although these accomplishments are difficult to associate with the cumbersome elephant, the Rossi herd is thus favored. Years of patient endeavor have been consumed in bringing about the development of the elephantine musical talent, but the labor has not been lost. In presenting the specialty four pretty girls beautifully gowned assist in the concert, dance with the elephants, and constitute and attractive feature of the specialty. Signor Rossi himself directs the act, which is a feature of the Oriental spectacle embraced in the Far East section of the Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill exhibition. Then will be the feature of a scene which will introduce Hindoo fakirs, Arabian athletes, Japanese jugglers, Whirling Dervishes and other strange people from across the sea in a melange of Oriental scenes and incidents typical of the Far East which Pawnee Bill accurately depicts.

EPISCOPALIANS STUDYING MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 11.—The decision of the House of Deputies and the House of Bishops of the Episcopal church to hear on Thursday the propositions to change the canons of the church on marriage and divorce was the most important matter before both houses yesterday.

The proposal to change the church canon on marriage and divorce will be given careful attention and interesting developments are expected. There is no more mooted question among Episcopalians than these particular canons and there is a wide difference of opinion as to whether or not they should be modified. At present, they provide against the remarriage in the church of persons who have been divorced. The proposal to change the name of the church to read "Holy Catholic Church" was made at the session today by George Wharton Pepper, of Philadelphia. The resolution was referred to a committee.

Industrial Oil Co. of Olinda Goes From One to Another

FULLERTON, Oct. 11.—The Industrial Oil Company of Olinda is putting down a new well, No. 38, which began to flow last evening, and it is believed there will be a strong flow from this well. It is over 2400 feet deep. The drilling crew ceased work upon it and the men have commenced to drill another, No. 46, in the same locality.

The Puente Oil Company has laid off all of its men except the pumping crews and they are pumping from twenty-five wells which are furnishing a satisfactory yield.

The Petroleum Development Company (the Santa Fe's organization) is installing a new electric lighting system. The company has just added a three-cylinder Fairbanks-Morse vertical engine of the marine type and a combined alternator which will carry 440 volts which will be stepped down to 220 by the transformer. The Puente Company, the Columbia Oil Company and the Petroleum Development Company all now have their own private telephone systems, having installed them recently.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 11.—News of a terrific hurricane which swept the Gulf of California on the night of October 2, was brought to this city yesterday by the steamship Manuel Herreras, of the Compania Naviera Del Pacifico.

According to the officers of the Herreras the steamer Luella, owned by the Southern Pacific, was blown ashore on an island near Mazatlan during the height of the gale, and is likely to prove a total loss.

The officers say that the gale was one of the worst in their experience and for a number of hours it was doubtful whether the Herreras could be kept afloat.

SURELY FINE FOR KIDNEYS

The Most Severe Backache and Urinary Misery Vanishes After a Few Doses

—In all the world there is no man or woman who can afford to neglect the slightest kidney disorder for one single day.

Kidney diseases are the most dangerous, because the first signs are seen in other parts of the body before anything wrong is noticed with the kidneys themselves.

Some of the symptoms, though, cannot be mistaken; for instance, a constant aching or misery in the back, sides or loins, or headaches and dizzy spells, nervous twitchings, disturbed sleep, inflamed or puffy eyelids, heart palpitations, rheumatic pains, weakness, bilious stomach or a feeling of languor and fatigue. Sick, unhealthy kidneys also cause thick, cloudy, offensive urine or it is full of sediment, irregular of passage and often uncontrollable or attended by a sensation of scalding.

The time to cure kidney trouble is before it settles into Diabetes, Dropsy, Gravel, or Brights Disease. The moment you suspect the slightest kidney, bladder or urinary disorder, begin taking Pape's Diuretic as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere in the world. We are so certain that Rexall "93" in just a few days you feel and know that the kidneys, bladder and urinary organs are healthy, clean and normal and all danger passed.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will vouch for the responsibility of Pape, Thompson & Pape of Cincinnati, Ohio, who prepare Pape's Diuretic—50 cent treatment—sold by every druggist in the world.

Santa Monica Experts Say the Municipal Pier Will Last 100 Years

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 10.—City Engineer Thomas H. James yesterday tested a piece of reinforced pile similar to those used in the construction of the $100,000 municipal pier which had been in the water for thirteen months. The concrete was found intact and harder, according to James, than when prepared and placed in the water. The pile was placed in a position by the city engineer where it would get the roughest possible usage from the waves in order to prove that reinforced concrete for wharf construction is entirely practical. A sample of the pile will be sent to construction engineers at New York for examination.

The Santa Monica pier was built 1500 feet into the ocean on piles varying in diameter from fourteen inches to eighteen inches, made of solid concrete reinforced with steel rods. It was claimed by experts that the heavy seas would cause the piles to crack and give way, but the wear of more than a year has failed to give evidence of any weakness whatever in the pier.

Geologists claimed that the teredo worm would penetrate and weaken the piles, but no trace of the destructive worm could be found. So-called concrete piers that have been damaged by high seas were supported by wooden piles coated with concrete. City Engineer James expressed the belief that the municipal pier will last at least 100 years.

Reo Breaks the Record from New York to San Francisco—What This Means to You.

The previous record was 15 days, 2 hours, 12 minutes, and it was a good one. It has stood three years in spite of many efforts to break it; for the speed required over all sorts of roads—and much of the way nothing but "desert tracks"—make the trip the severest possible accelerated test of endurance.

But at last the Reo tried it and smashed the record all to pieces—beat it by 4 days, 10 hours, 59 minutes, and beat it fairly and squarely. The Reo record is 10 days, 15 hours, 13 minutes.

"THE STANDPATTER"

What is the situation from the standpoint of the "standpatter"? He is supposed to be a political unit that stands with the party leaders regardless. When they say "boo!" he utters the same monosyllable with enthusiasm. He is not inquiring into the reason of things, but recognizes the voice of his party leader as the voice of the party. He UNDERSTANDS that it STANDS him in hand to STAND together with them, to STAND up for them and STAND with them, in addition to which he "STANDS IN," all of which is summed up in the popular phrase "stand pat." He doesn't STAND off, nor STAND out, when the recognized leaders of his party sound the keynote.

Very well, where does that place the "standpatter" in the present campaign? Let us see: The recognized leader in the Republican party in California is Hiram W. Johnson. He has been duly acclaimed as such by the recognized authority at a caucus of the voters of the party that was held on the 16th of August, and that by a majority that amounted to an ovation. The former leaders of the party have been relegated to the rear, and Johnson is in full and complete, and it may be added, undisputed command of the forces of the G.O.P. Now it may seem strange to some not to receive the cue from the old leaders, but there is such a thing as getting used to it. Try it and you will be surprised to find how easy and natural it will come.

Go out and stick your head in a barrel and softly whisper the name "Johnson." After you have somewhat recovered from the effects of this try it again, this time a little louder. By and by it will begin to sound familiar and finally you will catch the spirit of it and feel like yelling for Johnson in season and out of season. Besides, it is much more agreeable than going around with a large-sized grouse on; also you will then know that you're a real and sure-enough "standpatter" and not a mere imitation.

TAFT KNOWS THE MEN

Associate Justice Moody of the United States Supreme Court having resigned, leaves another vacancy which President Taft will be called upon to fill. It is said that within two years his administration will have placed four members of the court on the Bench, one being a Chief Justice. It seldom falls to an occupant of the White House to so impress himself on the judiciary of the country. It is a matter for great congratulation by the people of this country that this great responsibility is being discharged by a man who has had the judicial training of Taft. Well does he know the lawyers of the country and the qualifications that are suited for a place on our Court of Last Resort. It seems almost Providential that the task has come to such competent hands.

It will not increase the world's confidence in the stability of the Portugal Republic to learn that its Provisional President is a professor in a college, and when it leaks out that he has written several books on sociology, and has even gone so far as to publish several books of poems, the limit of confidence has been reached. We could forgive everything, however, but the poetry; but when we are expected to recognize a ruler who admits he is a poet, it is carrying things a little too far.

Already, so soon after the announcement has been made that two first-class ships are on the way to this coast with the intention of introducing the element of competition in ocean fares, the rates are being cut. The reduction from San Pedro to San Francisco amounts to three dollars, and to and from other points in proportion. This so sudden!

Since the assassination of the King of Portugal with no one punished for it, intelligent people have looked for trouble by the wholesale for that little kingdom, and now it has come. You can sometimes beat the statute law, but you can't dodge the law of cause and effect.

PRESIDENT FORCED IT

The Interstate Commerce Commission having just suspended a new advance in freight rates from the east to this coast, attention is called to the fact that we owe the authority that is vested in the commission to do this to the man whom some well meaning but misguided people have been arraigning as a reactionary. This man is now president of the United States, Taft by name, and he almost bullily-ragged congress into the measure under which this action was taken. But for him the above rates would not have gone into effect until reversed by a series of court decisions that would have taken years to accomplish. In the mean time the people of this coast would have been paying the exorbitant rates with no chance to recover the excess. While the shippers might if they chose gone into court and recovered, after charging them up to their customers and thus collect them twice, no such recourse would be practicable on behalf of the people. This was Taft's argument in support of the measure, and it was so simple that but few dared disregard it. As it now stands, the railroads must make their case before putting any increase into effect.

THE AUTO NOT GUILTY

Now at this day comes here into court a certain wise one who is an emissary of Big Business that has combined to raise the price of living, and tells us that it is all a mistake about their having anything to do with it. He has just discovered that the real occasion for the advance in the price of living arises from the fact that the country has gone wild on the subject of automobiles. To prove this he quotes the statistics compiled by the American Automobile Association, which shows that there are in this country 80,000 machines valued at $240,000,000.

Well, what of it? In the main this is money taken from the well-to-do and given to the laborer. It simply helps to equalize the circulation of money, and that is all there is to it. Might as well charge the increased cost of living to any other industry by which money is transferred from capital to labor. Besides the automobile increases the usefulness of human effort and is helping to extend the area of productive enterprises. It has become a wonderful factor in business and thereby tends to keep down rather than raise the cost of living.

STOP THIS BUTCHERY

Another trolley car horror from Illinois, with people killed and injured by the wholesale. They will now proceed to fix the responsibility on some employee and let the employer go free so far as any criminal responsibility is concerned.

This butchery will never stop until you get to the higher-ups and send them to the pen or the gallows where they belong. Never mind the motor-man, the conductor, the telegrapher nor even the manager and general superintendent. These are but instruments by which the slaughter is effected.

Go after the man who placed them in positions to do it. These are the guilty parties, and they will continue their nefarious work until they feel the heavy hand of law. When it takes a few of them by the scruff of the neck and shakes them until their teeth fall out, we will have less of such horrors to call attention to.

OFFICERS RUN DOWN CLUES BUT HAVE NO TRACE OF FUGITIVES

A guess that they have made their way to the mountains, the trails of which they know better than any two men alive, is just as good a guess, or better.

As a matter of fact, absolutely no trace of the two men has been found. They were last seen cutting through a walnut orchard toward the corner of Seventeenth street and the Santa Fe railroad. That was a few minutes after 1 o'clock Sunday. It is generally conceded that they did not go far the first afternoon. They may have hidden in a tree or hedge—and there were plenty of both—or they might have been secreted. They may have ditched the rifles, thus avoiding suspicion, separated and traveled. They may have reached the foothills the first night. They may be secreted close in.

They may have struck for the El Toro hills. They may have sought the Laguna hills. They may have hunted food, ammunition and shelter near El Modena, where Macias lived, or Anaheim, where Sainz lived. They may have a hiding place with a cholo camp along the Santa Ana river—go up as far as you please with your guess.

A hundred things may have happened. Clothing may have been changed, bicycles or horses stolen or given them. Truly, the situation is open for the worthy guess of the wise one.

This much is certain. Sainz is an expert at hiding his trail. Macias is no novice. Sainz has brought scores of Chinese all the way from Ensenada, hiding every man of them by day and leading them by secret paths at night, eluding the best men in the immigration service. All the desperate cunning and experience of years in outlawry gives credence to the theory that Sainz and Macias will not be caught any time soon.

Doubtless they have sought or will seek for ammunition for the two rifles and revolver they carried away, if they still have them. One rifle was a 30-30 Winchester, that belonged to the county; the other a 303 Savage, that belonged to Budge Lacy. The revolver was a 38-colt, and belonged to Sheriff Lacy. The scabbard of the revolver was dropped on the jail steps.

ONLY ONE OF HIS KIND.

The Reason the Judge Refused to Hang on to the Horse.

During the second Cleveland campaign Colonel John P. Irish, the golden tongued orator, and Judge Kinne of Waterloo, Ia., the man with lungs of brass, were stumping Iowa in behalf of the Democratic candidate.

They were driving in a buggy on the road to Sidney, a young city in the southwestern part of the state, when they came to a fork of the road where there was no sign board. Which turn to take was a question, as they had barely time to make the town anyway.

"There's a farmhouse over there a bit. You sit still, and I'll go over and ask questions," said Irish, and, climbing out, he started for the desired information. He got it and on his return saw the horse, evidently frightened at something, tearing down the road at runaway speed. Instead of trying to stop the horse, Judge Kinne dropped the reins, climbed over the seat and dropped off the back of the buggy into the road.

When Irish caught up to him the judge was busily dusting himself off after his roll in the roadway, not in the least disfigured by his acrobatic stunt.

"You're on the right fork of the road, all right, judge, but why didn't you hang on to the horse?" asked Irish, laughing heartily.

"Why didn't I hang on to him?" rumbled Kinne in his deep subcellar voice. "I'll tell you why I didn't, my Christian friend. There's lots of horses in this world, but there is but one Judge Kinne."—Los Angeles Times.

TEMPTING TABBY.

Ruse That Won a Satisfactory Pose For the Camera.

The repairs on the house were completed and the shavings swept out; also a new coat of paint added dressiness to the outside. What next but a photograph of its new angles? That being considered, the question of moment was how to pose Katusha.

Rolled into a ball every cat looks like every other cat; hence it was Katusha in action that must grace the foreground. Being abominably coddled and fat, action was the last thing that appealed to Katusha. Coaxing and likewise prodding made no effect.

She had been known upon occasions to be stirred by a morsel of delectable food. But fancy an aristocratic feline pictured in the attitude of tearing at a chicken bone! Impossible for Katusha.

There arose an emergency and with it the mistress, who disappeared into the house and brought forth a branch of Japanese paper cherry blossoms. A wave of them before Katusha's eyes was like making some hypnotic pass. She got up, stretched her body, while her nose just reached the pinkish flowers. That was it! They appealed to her aestheticism.

Snap went the camera. It was perfect.

"How"—began the man of the house.

"Just the alluring fragrance of a sliver of chicken secreted in the bough," said herself as Katusha rolled back into a ball.—Kansas City Star.

Tame Eagles.

A man living near Tromso, in Norway, is a great lover of wild birds and has succeeded in taming three eagles. He took them on the mountain side while they were young and, according to the London Field, kept them a couple of years in captivity. As their craving for liberty, however, grew stronger and stronger he at last let them loose, but they have settled down in the neighborhood of his home, and when he ascends the height which has become their favorite resort with fish or a newly shot seagull they quickly discover him from afar and come majestically sailing through the air, settling down beside him. Their meal over, they willingly allow him to pet and stroke them before they again make for the rocky islets, but they will not allow a stranger to approach them.

Etiquette.

The very high sounding word etiquette had a very humble origin, for etiquette meant simply a label. It derived its present meaning from the fact that a Scotch gardener who had laid out the grounds at Versailles for Louis XIV. was much annoyed at the courtiers walking over his newly made paths and at length had labels placed to indicate where they might walk. At first these labels were ignored, but a hint from high quarters that in future the walks of the courtiers must be within the "etiquettes" or labels was promptly attended to. To keep within the "etiquettes" came to mean to do the correct thing.

As It Used to Be.

Mildmay is a philosopher in his way. The other evening Mrs. M. gave him a scolding that would have made almost any other man crazy. But Mildmay said never a word in reply. He only murmured to himself: "And that is the woman I used to hold on my knee and call my little tootsy wootsy!"

Generous.

The Burrows System of Musical Kindergarten which we have adopted appeals to the reason of the beginner, allows no mechanical acceptance of rules, and causes the pupil to think out intelligently the solution of each problem, and to thoroughly understand each new point as it arises.

It makes the dry theory and practice of music interesting, and attracts because it is all brought within the easy comprehension of the beginner, and because the imagination, the sympathy, the sense of humor and the love of the beautiful are constantly appealed to, to arouse the pupil and compel his mind.

In other words, the same modern methods of instruction, especially for children, are used in the work as in the most up-to-date school study.

It is for your child at the rate of forty-five cents for two lessons per week.

Have you seen it? The large spoon in our display window shows the manner in which Sterling Silver is inlaid in silver plated ware, thereby prolonging the life of the goods. Breathe Hyomei for Two Minutes, and Stuffed-Up Head Will Vanish

—If you want to get relief from catarrh, cold in the head or from any irritating cough in the shortest time, breathe HYOMEI (pronounced High-o-mei).

It will clean out your head in two minutes and allow you to breathe freely, awake or asleep.

HYOMEI will cure a cold in one day, it will relieve you of disgusting sniffles, hawking, spitting and offensive breath in a week.

HYOMEI is made chiefly from eucalyptus, a soothing, healing, germ-killing antiseptic, that comes from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia, where catarrh, asthma and consumption were never known to exist.

HYOMEI is pleasant and easy to breathe. Just pour a few drops into the hard rubber pocket inhaler, breathe it, and cure is almost certain.

A complete Hyomei outfit, including inhaler and one bottle of HYOMEI, costs only $1.00 at druggists everywhere and at the Rowley Drug Co. If you already own an inhaler, remember that you can get an extra bottle of HYOMEI for only 50 cents. For free trial sample write Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

The RESULTS OF CARNIVAL OF TREMENDOUS IMPORTANCE

BY D. W. McDANNALD

Now that the great "Carnival of Products" for the year of Grace, 1910 has gone into history, this seems a good time to figure up the results. As on former occasions, and there will be forever on such occasions, so long as mankind are constituted as they now are, some people go away disgruntled, and declare the thing was a failure. From the view point of a few people, possibly the Carnival was not a howling success, but the great army of visitors, especially those from other states will cheerfully testify to its being the best county fair they have ever seen.

As superintendent of exhibits in the big tent, I had an opportunity of meeting at least one hundred people who had just arrived and knew nothing of the productiveness or the possibilities of Orange county, and each and every one of them went away carrying in their memory a pleasant recollection of the Carnival.

Their expressions of surprise at the myriads of good things to eat, things so rare and costly "back home," that only the extremely wealthy could reach them, were extremely gratifying. Through each visitor, from outside the county, we reached at least a half dozen others.

The first letter to the "home folks" contained a complete description of the Carnival, and it was a description the folks back there could place entire confidence in. In that respect it differed from the one you or I might write. Not that ours would not be just as truthful, but they don't know us. Los Angeles is the mecca for all tourists to this coast, and it seems to me that Orange county could not do a wiser thing than to keep a man in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to explain to the hundreds of tourists who visit that place every day, just what we have over here.

I believe the net results from a year's experience there would be so gratifying that our people would see to it that our booth was well supplied with a choice sample of all the good things we grow. There are a few people in Orange county who are not acquainted with the fact that we have a Chamber of Commerce in Santa Ana where hundreds of eastern people contract the first symptom of a disease that is so violent that very few of them have the constitutional ability to resist. A few weeks, or at least a few months stay in this incomparable little county is sufficient, and when they get "back there" the home-sickness is irresistible, and we find them in a short time making excursions around the town or country with some wide awake real estate man. You know the rest.

Why our people do not take more interest in this Chamber of Commerce exhibit is so far beyond my ken that I will not attempt to answer it by any other method of reasoning than that of ignorance of its importance. Some people think if we have a descriptive pamphlet published this year, that should be sufficient for a long time.

They do not take into consideration the fact that "we do move" and the things that were new yesterday are out of date today. I remember asking a man for a box of strawberries to exhibit. He looked at me with surprise, and said, "Why I gave you a box of berries last year. What have you done with them?" If we discover something on the farm really good, whether it is a crook-necked squash, a long handled gourd, or any other product equally good to eat, take it to the Chamber of Commerce where others may see it. If you are in doubt as to how it will compare with what others grow, just spend a quarter of an hour visiting the exhibits at the city hall and make your own comparisons.

Yosemite Valley in Moving Pictures

The Sergeants, a story laid in the great Yosemite Valley during the eighties, tells of the military post of Col. Westley, a stern father of a lovely daughter, of Robt. Adams, a sergeant at the post, of love and romance, of the whites by a company from the back by Indians, a thrilling rescue of the white by a company from the post, led by Sergeant Adams, and the happy ending with the father's blessing of a loving couple. No picture ever made abounds in such a gorgeous array of scenic backgrounds, showing all of the wonderful falls for which the Yosemite Valley is noted. This great subject is to be seen tonight and Wednesday night at the Temple Theatre and of itself is well worth a visit to see. Three other full reels, A Summer Tragedy, by the Biograph Co.; Matilda's Winning Ways, Leubin comedy, and An Arizona Romance, Pathe western drama, with new songs, make a big bill for the two nights.

The Story of the Short Ballot Cities

A Series of Articles on the New Commission Form of Municipal Government

By RICHARD S. CHILDS

III.

The Secret of the Success of the Commission Plan

NO mere form of government will automatically produce good government. But forms can be devised that will automatically give popular government. The people's will can be battled or facilitated by the form of government. The people's work at the polls can be made obscure, complex and difficult, or it can be made clear, simple and easy. Under the commission plan, with its short ballot, the people's work is very clear, very simple, very easy. And that is all the secret there is to the success of the plan.

In theory citizenship is the business of every citizen. But in our old style city governments effective citizenship is one of the learned professions. To vote intelligently a citizen must "go into politics." That means work, and the average man can't afford to do much unpaid work. So politics becomes dominated by a few men, and the people at large helplessly leave the bulk of the ticket to the party politicians to do as they please with.

In our old fashioned city governments, we have committed two serious errors.

First, we have scattered the powers of government among so many petty officials that it is quite impossible for the people to watch and control them all.

Second, we have subdivided the power in such small fragments that no single part is really worth watching. A member of the city council, for instance, under the old form of government, has so little power that it is really not worth while for the people of the town to become agitated over the question of who shall get the job.

The typical old style city government of this country consists of a mayor, with fairly large power, a string of minor administrative officials also chosen by popular vote, and a council which sometimes consists of two legislative bodies. The feature of this plan is the distribution of power, based on our ancient fear of kings. We have always had a superstitious dread of giving to any elected official power enough to do anything for us without getting the consent of several others. We have overlooked the fact that to make the former official obey our wishes we had also to exert simultaneous compulsion over the latter, whose consent he needed, and that popular control became thus anything but the simple matter it ought to be. The politicians can always get their own way if they make the council large enough. A council of fifteen men might occasionally feel personally the pressure of public opinion, but triple the size of the council, and the individual members become so insignificant and publicity so subdivided that each member is safely "lost in the shuffle."

Those who promoted the idea of having a host of elective officials in the government have always taken it for granted that there was something democratic about this procedure. Democracy, however, does not consist in electing everybody, but in controlling everybody. The mayor's office boy, for instance, may be appointed by the mayor, or elected by popular vote. He is a public servant, but there is nothing democratic in electing him when he can just as well be appointed. The vital thing is that he shall be controlled by the people, and if he will be under better control through appointment than through election, it is more democratic to appoint him.

The commission plan of government is based on no false idea that the people want to elect everybody. It gives the power to five men, who thereby become conspicuously responsible before all the people of the city. Each one of them is important enough to make it worth while for the citizens to inquire concerning his record and character. Each candidate for the office can attract a crowd to hear him speak, whereas an old time councilman would have been utterly unable to get a hearing before the people. There are not so many of these officials but what every citizen can find out about all of them and vote intelligently on election day. There are not so many as to cause a citizen to depend upon tickets put together for him by political specialists. Each citizen can and does make up his own ticket, and the function of the professional ticket making machines is thereby entirely disposed of.

If the commission were composed of ten men instead of five the list of names would be longer than the average citizen would be likely to remember for himself, and we should see a natural grouping of candidates and their election by groups instead of singly. Some "good government association" or some party machine, even on a nonpartisan ballot, would be sure to advertise tickets for the guidance of the voters, and in accepting these tickets the people would be sharing their power with the ticket makers.

The Short Ballot.

The commission plan succeeds therefore because it puts the power where the people can see it. The vital feature is not the method of organization, but the method of popular control. It is the ballot on election day which is unique. It is so short that every citizen knows what he is doing and is not relying on a party label or on the guidance of a politician. The "average man," "the man in the street," or the "plain people," whatever you choose to call them, are in complete control of the government. The short ballot has left no work for the politician to do; the people arrange the whole matter directly with the candidates without the politicians' help.

The politician is a specialist in citizenship, and in the commission governed cities citizenship is so simple that there is nothing to be a specialist in.

The most marked phenomenon of commission government has been the increased interest of the people in their city government. All eyes have been focused on the city hall month after month without interruption. The acts of the commission are the topic of conversation for the street car and the business men's luncheon. Criticism is plentiful, and—better yet—knowledge of the facts is widespread. The people of the city oversee the government.

The force of public opinion has been repeatedly illustrated in the commission governed cities. Few men, good or bad, would have the strength to resist popular demand when it is so intensively concentrated upon them. Each commissioner knows his responsibility for what is done, and knows that everybody else in town knows it too. Politicians of the average sort have been elected to office many times in commission governed cities, but their conspicuous responsibility has brought about a remarkable responsiveness to the opinion of the people.

The initiative, referendum and recall are considered important features of the plan by many people, but Galveston and Houston made a success of the commission plan before any of these features were thought of and their charters to this day do not provide for them. Furthermore, these cities do not feel the need of these devices and there is no demand for their introduction.

A Chance For Mistakes.

A few suggestions for the improvement of the plan have been made rather persistently, based not upon any disaster that has happened in the past, but rather on the fear that there might be trouble in the future. It has been noted, for example, that the city clerk in Des Moines, who passes upon the correctness of petitions for the recall of commissioners, is himself a creature of the commission and that in this work he ought to be independent. It is also pointed out that there is no independent auditing of the city's accounts. The commission audits its own books. In both cases it has been suggested that these offices be filled by popular vote. In the language of those who propose these changes, "have them independently elected by the people and responsible to the people." This familiar argument involves an error, the avoidance of which constitutes the great value of the commission plan. It is easy enough to create a new office and make it elective by popular vote, but it is not so easy to "have" such an officer "responsible to the people." He will not be responsible to the people if he is elected in obscurity with no limit directed on his office. To be sure, he may be legally responsible and the responsibility in law may be very clearly established, but the people cannot and will not hold him to account unless he stands out conspicuously before them. An officer whose functions are purely executive and not of great importance cannot possibly be conspicuous. If the city clerk or city auditor were made elective in Des Moines it would be a little office, overshadowed by the rest of the ticket, down at the bottom of the ballot. There would be very little publicity regarding the candidates, very little of the purifying limelight which is responsible for the present good political sanitation in the higher offices, and any group of schemers might put through a successful conspiracy to capture the job.

The desirability of an independent audit and an independent judgment on recall petitions is nevertheless obvious. It should, however, be secured in some other way than by attempting to make the people choose the officers. The same effect can be obtained by having the state assume these duties. Let an appointee of the governor be charged with the duty of auditing the books of all the cities in the state, with the right to prescribe a uniform method of keeping them. There is no difficulty in letting some state officer, such as the secretary of state, pass upon the genuineness and validity of recall petitions. The remoteness of such an officer from the disputants makes it reasonably certain that his position will be fair.

If all false "improvements" can be avoided the future of the commission plan will continue to be full of success, and its fundamental principle, when once understood, will be extended to states and counties. Already a national association, called the Short Ballot Organization, with Woodrow Wilson at its head, is in the field. We are on the eve of vast and wholesome changes!

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

Monday opened with few features on the local markets. Arrivals of nuts from outside territory are on the increase. Almonds from the northern part of the state are coming in. They are selling at 17 cents a pound from jobber to retailer and are now moving at 15 cents from grower to jobber. Reports show that the crop of almonds through San Benito, Santa Clara and the other almond districts has been very good, averaging six to eight pounds more to the tree this year than last. Walnuts here are moving out fast. Budded nuts are selling at 18 cents, while best Association grade still hold at 16 to 17 cents a pound. Pecans are selling at 17 cents and new chestnuts grown in this section are moving at 14 cents a pound. Brazils from Central and South America have not as yet made their appearance this year.

The market on eggs was firm on all grades. Demand for second grade storage or cull stock for bakers was good and prices paid averaged 23½ cents a dozen. Case count local sold at 41 cents and northern held at 36 cents. Receipts of local eggs were only 67 cases over Saturday and Sunday.

Butter arrivals were 8960 pounds. There were no features in the market and prices were unchanged.

Northern fresh cheese sold at 16½ cents in a jobbing way. Eastern Longhorn and Swiss imported were also fair sellers.

Potato receipts were immense—11,530 sacks. The market was accordingly weak. Spuds sold at big cuts under quotations particularly from broker to wholesaler. Onion receipts were 1200 sacks. The markets showed weakness in this commodity for the first time in three weeks.

There were no bean receipts reported. Limas were quoted from $5 to $5.25 per hundred. Sweet potato receipts were only 11 sacks and the market on sweets was back $1.50 per hundred.

Apple situation was unchanged. There were no features in the market and receipts were 8402 boxes. Grapes were more firm under very light receipts. Other fruits were also firm for the day for the same reason.

STEEL STEAMERS ARE ALMOST COMPLETED

LONG BEACH, Oct. 11.—During the past week the force of mechanics has been greatly augmented at the Craig Shipbuilding plant in the western part of the city, and work on the steel steamers, the Captain Thomas Hubbard and the Navajo, is being rushed as rapidly as possible. Owing to unavoidable delays, the Hubbard cannot be launched Oct. 20, as was scheduled, but will slide off the ways, according to General Manager Craig, the latter part of the month or the first week in November.

The boats, when completed, will have cost about $225,000 each and the launching of the first steel vessels in Long Beach will be duly celebrated.

TO PURCHASE PARK SITE

Redlands Trustees Look for Ground for Municipal Playground Before Prices Soar

REDLANDS, Oct. 11.—Mayor J. H. Strait has started a movement for the purchase of ground for a municipal park and playground, and the park committee of the City Trustees is engaged in looking over sites and receiving offers to be taken up at the next meeting of the trustees.

The fact that the prices of park sites offered a year ago have raised, and probably will continue to go higher, is ascribed by Mayor Strait as reason that land should be procured at this time, even if all of the work of developing the park cannot now be done.

NEW ORLEANS IS GREATLY WORRIED

Unsatisfactory Census Returns
Not Least of Its Troubles

New Orleans' fear that the census returns, which give that city a population of 339,075, will have an unfavorable effect on its prospects of securing the Panama exposition may not be entirely without reason, but, in the opinion of the Portland Oregonian, the slow growth of the Southern city will not be the greatest handicap to the realization of its ambition to win the exposition fight. The Oregonian says: "It is not at all clear why the difference between what New Orleans expected and what she received in the way of Government census figures should materially affect the status of the exposition. New Orleans has other and more weighty factors to contend with in this contest for the exposition honors. So far as the matter has progressed, it would seem that the Southern city could not be assured of more than one-half the amount of financial support that is already guaranteed the San Francisco exposition. On the Pacific Coast every large city within a thousand miles of San Francisco is working harmoniously with the California metropolis to secure the celebration of the big event on this Coast."

"New Orleans may have some outside support, but it does not approach in volume that which is accorded San Francisco. The amount of money pledged for the San Francisco exposition is so great that it would be unreasonable to expect the Government to add enough to the New Orleans fund to make the Louisiana affair approximate in importance the one which will be held on this Coast. With California holding a celebration which in every respect would outshine the one held in New Orleans, it would be idle to presume that the Government would withhold its sanction and support from the greater exposition in favor of the smaller one. The New Orleans Playhouse takes Interstate Commerce Commissioner Lane to task for advising the Californians to proceed with their big show irrespective of what Congress may do and seems to think that if the Government withholds its financial support from the enterprise it will also withhold its official sanction. This is hardly probable."

"The exposition at San Francisco will be held in honor of the greatest industrial and commercial project that the world has ever undertaken. It will have back of it the credit and integrity of the State and the indorsement of the entire region west of the Rocky Mountains. An enterprise of such a colossal nature favored by so large a number of people cannot well be ignored by the Government. The magnitude of the affair made possible by the generous support given it will compel Government recognition. The Panama Canal Exposition should be held at San Francisco because no other port that is in any manner eligible for the honor can muster anywhere near the support that will be given the affair if it is held on the Pacific Coast. If the Government should discriminate and lend support to a smaller affair at New Orleans, the Western exposition would still prove a more attractive project for both American and foreigners."

People's Interests Guarded.

It is now up to the people of California on November 8th to decide whether the constitutional amendments, authorized by the State Legislature last week, permitting the State to tax herself for $5,000,000 and San Francisco to tax herself $5,000,000 more, shall be passed. The failure to pass these amendments would in all probability mean the giving up of the great project to hold the Panama-Pacific world's fair in San Francisco in 1915, and letting the honor go to our rival, New Orleans. * * *

The Legislature has well guarded the people in the matter of the time and terms on which the $5,000,000, if voted, shall be taken from the treasury. If San Francisco, for instance, does not vote her bonds, or make good her $7,500,000 subscriptions, no money will ever leave the State treasury for exposition purposes. The State Commission to be appointed to take charge of the proposed $5,000,000 State exposition fund will protect the people in this matter.

California cannot afford to let it go out to the world that she has failed in such an important undertaking. * * * The fair will boost California, and this section of the State, naturally, will be the most benefited.—Auburn Republican.

Must Win the Fight.

There is no division of sentiment in California on one thing, viz.: The place of holding the 1915 Exposition in celebration of opening the Panama Canal. From San Diego to Siskiyou the cry is San Francisco. San Francisco's only opponent is New Orleans. But New Orleans is no weak sister. She has the Mississippi Valley States pulling for her, and the Pacific Coast States must put up a strong fight to win. With San Francisco's offer of financial assistance properly placed before the Legislature in extra session, a proposition to bond the State for $5,000,000 will go to and will be endorsed by the people in November. The fight up to this point so gallantly made for this exposition must not be lost.—Napa Register.

Benjamin Clothes

Alfred Benjamin & Co. NEW YORK

Benjamin Clothes

Have Come to Santa Ana

Nearly every one has heard of the Alfred Benjamin make for men.

Wherever there are good dressers BENJAMIN CLOTHES take first rank. Ask any man who is posted on clothing and he will tell you there are no better clothes made.

Most men we know and especially the young men, are arguing with themselves just now about the style of suit they are going to wear for fall and winter.

Some of them, (we're told) are in favor of a fairly loose back style while others prefer the semi-form fitting model which we picture above.

It Is Called the Seabright

The Seabright is a three-button sack suit which has been in great demand in New York for some time and we predict for it a very flattering reception here in our city. While "BENJAMIN CLOTHES" are built by the very best clothes talent which New York City can supply and while the styles are precisely like the most exclusive Fifth avenue tailors are putting out, they are moderately priced.

Take it from us—see the Benjamin Clothes before you decide on your Fall Suit.
